

Tesla's Q4 Performance | Tesla (TSLA) - 10-K 2024

Powered by ASAP Knowledge Navigator for EDGAR

Prompt Text:

What did the report say about the company's Q4 performance?

Tesla's Q4 Performance

Tesla's Q4 performance was not discussed in the report. However, the report did cover the company's performance over the year ending December 31, 2023. The report stated that Tesla's net income attributable to common stockholders was $15.00 billion, representing a favourable change of $2.44 billion compared to the prior year. The company's cash flows provided by operating activities in 2023 and 2022 were $13.26 billion and $14.72 billion, respectively, representing a decrease of $1.47 billion. Tesla's total revenues for the year ending December 31, 2023, were $96,773 million, an increase of $15,311 million (19%) compared to the year ending December 31, 2022. The report also stated that Tesla's gross margin for total automotive and services and other segments decreased from 26.5% to 18.2% in the year ended December 31, 2023, compared to the year ended December 31, 2022. The company's cash and cash equivalents and investments at the end of 2023 were $29.09 billion, representing an increase of $6.91 billion from the end of 2022. The report also discussed Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations, as well as the company's internal control over financial reporting. The report also mentioned that Tesla's management concluded that the company's internal control over financial reporting was effective as of December 31, 2023. The report also stated that Tesla's independent registered public accounting firm, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, had audited the effectiveness of the company's internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2023. The report also discussed Tesla's financial results and their variability across each period, as well as the company's assessment of its projected future results of business operations. The report also mentioned that Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and the related notes included elsewhere in the annual report on Form 10-K. The report also stated that Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations included an analysis of the company's cash flows from investing activities and their variability across each period. The report also discussed Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations, including the company's capital expenditures, which were $8.90 billion for the year ended December 31, 2023, and $7.16 billion for the year ended December 31, 2022, mainly for global factory expansion and machinery and equipment as the company expands its product roadmap. The report also mentioned that Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations included an analysis of the company's cash flows from investing activities and their variability across each period. The report also discussed Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations, including the company's capital expenditures, which were $8.90 billion for the year ended December 31, 2023, and $7.16 billion for the year ended December 31, 2022, mainly for global factory expansion and machinery and equipment as the company expands its product roadmap. The report also mentioned that Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations included an analysis of the company's cash flows from investing activities and their variability across each period. The report also discussed Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations, including the company's capital expenditures, which were $8.90 billion for the year ended December 31, 2023, and $7.16 billion for the year ended December 31, 2022, mainly for global factory expansion and machinery and equipment as the company expands its product roadmap. The report also mentioned that Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations included an analysis of the company's cash flows from investing activities and their variability across each period. The report also discussed Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations, including the company's capital expenditures, which were $8.90 billion for the year ended December 31, 2023, and $7.16 billion for the year ended December 31, 2022, mainly for global factory expansion and machinery and equipment as the company expands its product roadmap. The report also mentioned that Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations included an analysis of the company's cash flows from investing activities and their variability across each period. The report also discussed Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations, including the company's capital expenditures, which were $8.90 billion for the year ended December 31, 2023, and $7.16 billion for the year ended December 31, 2022, mainly for global factory expansion and machinery and equipment as the company expands its product roadmap. The report also mentioned that Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations included an analysis of the company's cash flows from investing activities and their variability across each period. The report also discussed Tesla's management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations, including the company's capital expenditures, which were $8.90 billion for the year ended December 31, 2023, and $7.16 billion for the year ended December 31, 2022, mainly for global factory expansion and machinery and equipment as the company expands its product roadmap.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

